Where do you get a marriage license?

A couple who intends to be married in NYS must apply in person for a marriage license to any town or city clerk in the state. The application must be signed by both parties in the presence of the town or city clerk. A representative cannot apply for the license on behalf of the bride or the groom even if the representative was given the Power of Attorney.

Is there a waiting period?

Yes. Although the marriage license is issued immediately, the marriage ceremony may not take place within 24 hours from the exact time that the license was issued. When both applicant are 16 years of age or older, the 24-hour waiting period may be waived by an order of a justice of the Supreme Court or a judge from a County Court of the county in which either the bride or groom resides. If either person is under the 16 years of age, the order must be from the Family Court judge of the county in which the person under 16 year of age resides.

How long is a license valid?

60 days beginning the day after it is issued.

How much does the license cost?

If the marriage license is issued by a town or city clerk in NYS outside of New York City, it cost $40.00. If it is issued by the City Clerk of the City of New York, it costs $30. The fee in either case includes the issuance of a Certificate of Marriage Registration. This certificate is automatically sent by the issuing clerk to the applicants within 15 days after the completed license is returned by the person who performs the ceremony. It serves as a notice that a record of the marriage is on file. Couples who do not receive a Certificate of Marriage Registration within four weeks of the wedding should contact the town or city clerk who issued the license.

Is a premarital physical exam required?

No premarital examination or blood test is required to obtain a marriage license in NYS.

Can I keep my maiden name , can the groom use my last name?

SURNAME OPTIONS

Every person has the right to adopt any name by which he or she wishes to be known simply by using that name consistently and without intent to defraud. A person's last name (surname) does not automatically change upon marriage, and neither party to the marriage is required to change his or her last name. The bride and groom need not take the same last name. One or both parties may elect to change the surname by which he or she wishes to be known after the marriage by entering the new name in the appropriate space provided on the marriage license. The new name must consist of one of the following options:

- * the surname of the other spouse
- * any former surname of either spouse
- * a name combining into a single surname all or any segment of the pre-marriage surname or any former surname of each spouse
- * a combination name separated by a hyphen, provided that each part of such combination surname is the pre-marriage surname, or any former surname, of each of the spouses.

Whether you decide to use or not use this option at the time of your marriage license application, you still have the right to adopt a different name through usage at some future date, however, your marriage license cannot be changed to record a surname you decide to use after your marriage. If you plan to use your married name at work, be sure to have your name changed in Social Security records. This way you will get credit for all your earnings. It's easy and it's absolutely free... Contact and social security office. You will need documentary evidence showing both your old name and your new name.
